A LETTER ON THE GENIUS & DISPOSITIONS OF THE FRENCH GOVERNMENT, &c.

"Of all the usurpations which history records, there is none more odious for systematic perfidy in the plan, or more shocking for uncolored violence in the execution, than that which we have recently witnessed in the case of Spain. There was so awful a warning in this event—it was calculated to impart so irresistible a conviction of the true character and views of the French government—that it is, at first, not easy to conceive, how it could have failed to light into a flame every spark of feeling or energy which remained to the nations of the earth. But the usurper knew too well the force of that potent spell in which he has bound Europe, to be deterred by this apprehension.—He was equally well apprized of the resources and disposition of the people he was about to attack; and if his attempt has not as yet fully succeeded, it is not on account of a misapprehension of consequences on his part.

"More than two years ago, during my residence in Paris, I had occasion to know that this plan was in agitation. It was a common topic of conversation, that the Bourbons were to be dethroned in that country, and a Bonaparte introduced in their stead. The revolution was usually accompanied by a prophecy concerning the inevitable fall of Austria. All this, too, at a moment when both nations were in alliance with France—when Spain, which Mr. Burke, in the time of the Directory, denominated a field of regicide, was to be considered, in every part of political calculation, as a part of the resources of France. This trait alone, is sufficient to evince the profligacy of her politicians, and the sense which they entertain of the character of their government.—They spoke of the necessity of regenerating Spain, as the Roman historians, who lived under Caligula and Domitian, speak with compassionate indignation of the slavery in which the Barbarians were held! For three years previous to the seizure of the royal family, Spain was deluged with French emissaries, commissioned to prepare the minds of the people for the event—and with French engineers and draughtsmen, who were openly engaged in mapping the face of the country, in examining the strong holds, and in exploring the locality and amount of the spoil which they expected to seize."

Beauharnois the elder brother of the first husband of the empress was sent as minister to Madrid. He was either found too scrupulous for his station, or recoiled altogether from a co-operation in the crime, and was soon superseded by a more remorseless agent.

"The original plan was, to transport the royal family of Spain to South America, and to seize upon the crown as a derelict. This scheme, upon the advantages of which it would be needless to expatiate, was to be accomplished as circumstances might dictate, either with or without the assistance of the British. The consent of Charles and his queen was obtained, but the opposition of Ferdinand and his counsellors intercepted their flight, and excited among the populace, to whom their intention was disclosed, the alarm which led to the first commotions at Aranjuez. The immense force which Bonaparte introduced, clearly proves, that he foresaw the possibility of the subsequent convulsions throughout Spain and had made every provision against them which prudence could suggest. If the detention of Ferdinand, when lured into his toils by the blandishments of pretended friendship, shows that there are no refinements of dissimulation or artifices of perfidy of which he is not capable—the massacre of three hundred innocent victims, whom Murat, the day after the tumult of the 2d of May caused to be grouped together and shot by his soldiery, in the principal square of Madrid, equally demonstrates, that there is no excess of barbarity, however atrocious, from which he would shrink in the prosecution of his views."

"We must not suppose that Bonaparte was prompted to invade Spain, solely by the feverish restlessness of his spirit, and the desire of aggrandizing his family. He was guided by other powerful incitements, of which the most prominent were these.—1st. To gratify that unextinguishable hate which he cherishes against the whole race of the Bourbons.—2d. To collect an immediate and considerable booty, and thus to provide a new fund for the supply of his officers and soldiers.—3d. To obtain more complete possession of the naval means which Spain could furnish for the promotion of his designs on England. Although he might have preferred the unmolested occupation of her government and resources, the chance of resistance was not to be regretted, according to his scheme of aggression: Had the people crouched to receive the oppressive dominion of their invaders, even the shadow of a pretext would have been wanting for that system of confiscation, of robbery, and of proscription, which he may now pursue under color of chastising rebellion. In the true spirit of a rapacious tyrant, he would willingly have made the criminal in order to punish the crime. The foundations of his throne may be more immovably laid in blood than in the tame submission of the Spaniards.—No mind will be found to stand erect, after the wretched experience of this struggle, in the midst of those horrible ruins which his triumph will leave—and which by the terror they must inspire, will break down whatever elasticity of spirit may yet endure, either in Spain or in the other countries dependant on his nod.

"I had this fact from an eye-witness, one of the first deputies from Spain to the government of England. Don Andres de la Vega, to whom I allude, merited the most implicit faith and conciliation, by his genius and his love of country; the highest respect from all those who knew him. He was a lawyer of Asturias before the present struggle in Spain, and deserved the eulogium which Cicero passes upon Quintus Scævola—that he was the most eloquent of the learned, and the most learned of the eloquent. "Juris peritorem eloquentissimus—eloquentium juris peritissimus."

"Sir Francis D'Ivernois, speaking of the employment given to the French armies by the Directory, in his "Historical Survey," has the following passage: "Perhaps they will order them to Madrid before they attempt a passage over the Danube; but still the repulse cannot be long. Were the plan executed as soon as the republican armies had circumscribed the king of Spain with his American possessions, they would be the better able to cope with the whole of Germany. It is with the plate of the churches of Toledo that they would make themselves masters of the mines of Kremnitz and the Hartz."

Reported Balances due to the U. States.

We have at last received the report of Mr. Duval, the comptroller of the treasury, stating the balances appearing to be due to the United States, which report, somehow or other, reached the democrats several weeks since.

Could it be that there was a design to take a hue and cry to cover the real defalcations of Brown and Clark, two democratic officers, who, within 6 weeks, have made way with nearly 200,000 dollars?

There are some interesting observations which occur to us upon these papers, and which we submit to the public.

1st. Mr. Duval apologises for letting so many hundreds, and such enormous balances remain due, and unpaid for, because the parties were not known, and their situations and residence not ascertained. This will not apply to col. Pickering or Mr. Gore—that could not be the reason of neglecting to call them to account.

2dly. Much less could it be pretended that any friendship for these gentlemen produced the forbearance.—We are to learn the real cause in the third remark.

3dly. It appears by the report itself, on the face of it, that neither col. Pickering or Mr. Gore are debtors to the U. States one shilling.

Mr. Duval, the comptroller of our treasury, expressly states, that he has subjoined remarks to each article, explaining the reasons why the accounts are not settled, and the actual situation of them.

We find that Mr. Gore's personal charge is stated to be on account of salary, the other charge was merely official, in which he was coupled with Mr. Jefferson's favorite minister Mr. Pinkney. It appears, moreover, that col. Pickering did actually exhibit his accounts, and that they were satisfactory also appears, because whenever any accounts are not so, the fact is noticed by Mr. Duval and the only reason assigned in the case of col. P. is, that the appropriation was not made by law, though the money has been satisfactorily proved to have been paid by col. Pickering, for the use and benefit of the U. S. at his foreign ministers and agents.

What shall we say then to the honor and honesty of a certain officer of the U. S. in Boston, who first received this report and spread the rumor of the balance against Mr. Gore, and purposely omitted to mention that the money was stated to have been paid on account of salary, and that col. Pickering is stated also to have delivered in his accounts, against which, nothing but a merely formal objection is raised?

But we thank the honorable and fair friends of the administration, for provoking this enquiry, as it has led us to examine this subject to the foundation, and we shall give the deficient accounts and enormous waste under the present administration, with Mr. Duval's remarks. We shall keep nothing back.

Mr. Gore has been mentioned as having received 53,222 dollars on account of salary. It was less than his due—but his colleague, Mr. Pinkney, Mr. Jefferson's minister, is charged with 42,177 dollars, as commissioner under the seventh article, salary and a further sum of $ 55,646, as besides his proportion of the 40,943, paid to C. Gore and others, which they never touched, but which went to pay the clerks, assessors, stationary, and other expenses of the board.

It is not to be doubted, that Mr. Pinkney can honorably discharge himself, but he stands charged, in his private name, with nearly twice as much as Mr. Gore.

We shall now give a list of democratic balances many of which are real losses—the remarks added are those of Mr. Duval, our Comptroller—not our own.

Also and some other small dollars only will be secured.

There are a multitude of other cases reported to Congress, which we shall not cite. One or two remarks will be useful. Three quarters of all the nominal balances against federalists are stated by Mr. Duval to be merely suspended on account of form, the money being really due to the individual, though for some reason, unimportant to the public, the accounts cannot be closed. On the other hand, the balances due from democrats are nearly all in suit or judgment.

One other remark we could make is, that the balances due, and the embezzlements of public money, are 3/4 of them by citizens of the southern states.

In some cases, as in Michilimachine and Detroit, it is believed that the amount embezzled must be the whole amount received.

One thing must appear very extraordinary—that such vast sums should have been advanced to Degen, Purviance and Co. who once stood indebted 165,000 dollars, when it is well known our navy agents formerly were generally in advance to the United States—this we know was the case usually with Messrs. S. Higginson & Co. in this town. How happened it that such vast sums were produced to buy copper bolts, of which it should seem no part was furnished?

How happens it that officers who owe balances have absconded for the sum of 30,000 dollars, should only have given bond for 2,000 dollars? Here is a defect somewhere: either in not taking sufficient bonds, or in not compelling an earlier settlement.

It must be remembered, moreover, that Mr. Duval's report does not contain the heaviest delinquencies—only such cases where there is an account on the treasury books. The infamous defalcation of Edward Livingston—of Brown, Clark and others, which amount to 300,000 dollars, are not reported, because they are not yet ascertained at the treasury.

Mr. Donaldson, at Tunis or Tripoli, must have a most excellent chance. The documents in such cases must be loose; but he, it seems, has sent no account and no voucher for about half a million of dollars. This sum would pay off the whole state debt of Massachusetts.

STRANGE THINGS!

Which have happened within a few months.

1. The dismissal of Mr. Jackson, the British minister, which may lead to a disastrous war with England, the only nation capable of seriously injuring us.
2. Mr. Gallatin reports that we have an "Exhausted Treasury," and that we must resort to "LOANS."
3. The democratic collector at New Orleans absconds with $150,000 of the public money.
4. The democratic in Congress attempt to abridge the freedom of debate, by means of a GAG-RULE!
5. The democratic collector of York (Mass.) appropriates 31,500 dollars of the public money to his own use, and goes to jail.
6. The President refuses to recognize a minister from the people of Spain.
7. The President sends a minister to Russia—one of the powers which is to form the "Northern Confederacy" under the auspices of France.
8. A bill is brought into Congress, containing an appropriation of several thousand dollars to defray the expense of a minister to Madrid, to Joseph Bonaparte, who is endeavoring to usurp the sovereignty of Spain by butchering the innocent inhabitants.
9. A report is made to Congress of the state of the American army under Wilkinson—once 2000 men—of whom 276 only are fit for duty—the rest are either sick, dead, or absent!
10. Mucius discovers that the emperor Napoleon's brother, the king of Wurttemberg, was first married to a niece of the American secretary of state, who is brother to a Senator in Congress, and that the connection extends even to the family of the late President.
11. Although we have an "exhausted treasury" 50,000 dollars MORE than we allowed in former years, is voted to be placed at the disposal of the President, for FOREIGN MISSIONS!
12. An infamous proposition is brought forward in a Democratic paper in Baltimore, called THE WHIG, for abolishing our present federal republican form of government, and making it an HEREDITARY MONARCHY!

Well done Democracy!

These are very strange things, but if they do not open the People's eyes, it will be stranger still.

(Freeman's Journal.)

"Hereditary Monarchy."—That excellent federal paper, the ALBANY BALANCE, speaking of the infamous democratic proposition to change the republican government of the United States into a Hereditary Monarchy, has the following observations:

"HIGH DESTINIES."

"Americans, are ye ready? We publish some extracts from the Baltimore Whig, one of the most violent jacobin papers in the United States, to put the people on their guard. These extracts confirm a suspicion which we have long entertained, that the party now in power in this country, do not intend that another president shall ever be elected according to the constitution. It now appears that they aim at an HEREDITARY MONARCHY, and it seems that they feel no confidence of the success of their plan, that they are neither ashamed nor afraid to avow it openly."

(Ibid.)

Congress of the United States.
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

MONDAY, February 12:

[Taken for the Alexandria Gazette.]

Mr. Fisk from the committee to whom the census bill was re-committed, reported the same amended. The amendments were read and the bill was referred to a committee of the whole to-morrow.

Several private petitions and post road resolutions were presented and referred.

On motion of Mr. Dawson the letter of Mr. Fulton presented on Friday, was referred to a select committee.

Mr. Rhea offered the following resolution—Resolved, That the President be requested to lay before this house such information as may be in his power, respecting the sums of money appropriated since the commencement of this government to the purpose of fortifying the ports and harbors of the United States and the territories thereof, and of the sums, if any, which remain unexpended.

Mr. Fisk opposed this resolution, as he thought too much of the time of the house was taken up in such calls, and too much money expended in printing the reports.

Mr. Gold opposed the call, as he thought the information already before the public in the laws making the appropriations.

Mr. Milner opposed it on the same ground.

Mr. Dana was in favor of the call, as he thought the clerks in the departments could make out the statements with more convenience than the members of this house.—The question on the passage of the resolution was taken and lost. Ayes 39—Noes 41.

On motion of Mr. Milner, the house went into committee of the whole on the resolutions respecting the Battle at New Orleans. Mr. Macon in the chair.

Mr. Lovespoke at great length in favour of the claim of the United States to the Battle, and against the claim of Mr. Livingston.

ORIGINAL.

FAMILY MEDICINES.

Prepared by RICHARD LEE & SON.

Have been in high estimation and general use throughout the United States, for upwards of ten years. And, it is no inconsiderable evidence of their utility, that during the above period, numerous imitations of every article, the productions of ignorance and experience, urged by envy and pecuniary, have been intruded on the public, seen for a day, and then perished! Others now succeed them, which in like manner are fast descending to the tomb of the Capulets; while our remedies become more generally used, and acquire a daily accession of deserved celebrity.

Lee's Worm-destroying Lozenges.

This medicine is superior to any ever offered to the public, being innocent and mild, certain and efficacious in its operations.—Should no worms exist in the body, it will without pain or griping, cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders.

Lee's Elixer.

A certain remedy for colds, coughs, asthma, and particularly the whooping cough, so destructive to children.

Lee's Essence of Mustard.

So well known for the cure of rheumatism, gout, palsy, sprains, &c. &c.

Lee's Grand Refractive.

Proved by long experience to be unequalled in the cure of nervous disorders, consumptions, lowness of spirits, inward weakness, &c.

Lee's Anti-Bilious Pills.

For the prevention and cure of bilious and malignant fevers.

Lee's Sovereign Ointment for the Itch.

Which is warranted an infallible remedy at one application.

Infallible Ague & Fever Drops.

For the cure of agues, remittent, and intermittent fevers.

Lee's Genuine Persian Lotion.

Celebrated for the cure of ring worms, tetter, &c.

Lee's Genuine Eye Water.

An effectual remedy for all diseases of the eyes.

Tooth-ache Drops.

Which give immediate relief.

Lee's Damask Lip Salve.

Restorative Powder for the Teeth and Gums.

The Anodyne Elixir.

For the cure of every kind of head-ache.

The Indian Vegetable Specific.

For the cure of venereal complaints.

Those medicines having come into general use, they are frequently purchased not only by Druggists, but by country store-keepers, and in order that the purchasers may be confident they have the original genuine medicines; wherever they purchase they have but to observe that every article of medicine has on the outward wrapper the signature of the proprietors.

THE first number of this valuable Work is just come to hand and is ready for inspection at the store of the subscriber, in King-street, and with Mr. Triplett, at the coffee house. Fully aware of the impositions that have been practised upon the public by strangers soliciting subscriptions from distant places; the Editors invite their examination of a Work perhaps the most useful, entertaining as well as extensive in its kind that has ever been undertaken in any country. And they flatter themselves that the American will by no means shrink from a comparison with the London edition, tho' offered at six dollars per Vol. less.

This number may be considered as a fair specimen of the execution of the work, and will be left a short time for examination, before the 2d number is put to press. After this the subscription will be raised to $2 25 each number; and but a few more copies printed than are sufficient to supply the subscribers, that have a decided advantage—subsequent applications may therefore come too late. It is also the intention of the Editor to annex to the last number a complete list of names of the subscribers, as the patrons and encouragers of useful knowledge, the arts and literature of the United States.
